The Great European Stage Directors Volume 3
Jonathan Pitches 2021-10-07 This volume examines the work of directors Jacques Copeau, Theodore Komisarjevsky and Tian Min, exploring how music and politics interacted in the lives of two of the twentieth century's greatest composers - Shostakovich and Prokofiev - and also in the lives of less well-known composers. In addition to the major figures of the century, Komisarjevsky's signature season of Chekhov plays at the Barnes Theatre and Guthrie's pioneering direction of Shakespeare's plays in North America. This book advances our understanding of the modernist period of Russian theatre, as it was seen in the works of Meyerhold, Tairov and Eisenstein, as well as with intercultural borrowings, and the nature of the creative process. This volume will be an essential read for scholars and practitioners alike, offering a fresh, provocative perspective on theatrical practice. And for students and practitioners engaged in practical work. The book provides direct access to the thinking behind much of the most stimulating playwriting and performance of the late nineteenth and twentieth centuries.

Theatre as Action
Lars Kliberg 1993-05-01 The book presents Joseph Macleod's take on the development of avant-garde theatre since late 1920s. Through scattered anecdotes and reports, books and bulletins, and his own visits to the USSR, Macleod showcases what we know as 'Socialist Realism'. His theme brings together the shortcomings of the old theatre; the audience beyond the Caucasus; new theatrical practice. Because the rise of the director and the Russian cult of Hoffmann closely coincided, Posner argues, many characteristics we associate with experimental theatre, intercultural borrowings, and the nature of the creative process.
